

Mr.Powell is an example of what is happening with "our" government this days. It seems that it doesn't care about public opinion. I've heard that he received thousands of comments. And that the vast majority, and over realming, were against further deregulation. This to me points to a "red flag." It is a warning that this democracy is very much in dire-strights. Mr. powell was bought for, no doubt about it. And so have many other politicians in Capitol Hill.
